ABOUT THE FOOD TRUST

The Food Trust, founded in 1992, strives to make healthy food available to all. Working with neighborhoods, schools, grocers, farmers and policymakers, The Food Trust has developed a comprehensive approach that combines nutrition education and greater availability of affordable, healthy food. CENTER FOR HEALTHY FOOD ACCESS

Working to ensure that every child in the United States has access to nutritious, affordable food.

Together, we can ensure that a culture of health in a diverse society lasts for generations to come.

THE CENTER FOR HEALTHY FOOD ACCESS is a national collaborative effort working to increase access to and demand for healthy foods and beverages in underserved urban and rural communities. With support from the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, The Food Trust launched The Center in a collective effort to improve people's health and quality of life. Now more than ever, stakeholders need to strengthen coalitions to demonstrate support for and communicate the benefits of programs and policies working to ensure that a culture of health in a diverse society lasts for generations to come.

OUR FOCUS AREAS

Serving as a catalyst to test groundbreaking ideas, share lessons learned and secure the progress made over recent years, the Center aims to:

- Strengthen and protect federal nutrition programs, including SNAP, WIC and SNAP-Ed
- Create jobs and economic development by bringing grocery stores and other healthy food businesses to underserved areas
- Partner with healthcare institutions to expand healthy food access and improve health equity in underserved populations
- Partner with businesses to focus marketing efforts on healthier choices
- Expand incentive programs that make healthier food more affordable for participants of nutrition assistance initiatives
- Improve the quality of food and water in schools
- Host convenings and foster collaborations between grassroots organizations and national thought leaders to improve access to and demand for healthy food
- Enhance healthyfoodaccess.org so that organizations and businesses can access resources and share successes with one another
